Study of Transfer Potential using EEG

Principal Investigators: Dr. H.R. Nagendra

Project Co-ordinator: Dr. Judu Ilavarasu

Project Description:

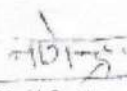

Transfer potential (TP) is a phenomenon by which thoughts of one person can be transmitted to another through non-local communication. Numbers of studies have shown promising results in this area of research. Among the various techniques that were used for such experiments, EEG has been the most popular technique.

In this study, we intend to study the TP phenomenon using EEG under various states of consciousness, like Dhyana and Samadhi. For this both adepts and novices will be studied. Duration of the project is estimated to be one year.
